TRIBUNE FINDS DICTATOR AND CENSOR IN PERU

Reporter Returns
from Inquiry.

BULLETIN.
LIMA, Aug. 18.—[Special.]—The foreign office of the Peruvian government has been advised that President Leguia has ordered an army mobilization and that the movement is acquiring greater importance than at first thought. The mobilization is believed to be intended primarily to prevent a sympathetic movement from the south, where there has been active revolutionary propaganda.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By the Chicago Tribune.]
On April 23 of this year The Tribune and its associated newspapers printed an exclusive dispatch from Lima giving to the world for the first time the news that President Leguia had set up a dictatorship in Peru, had banished opposing members of the senate to the island of San Lorenzo, had seized La Prensa, a Peruvian newspaper, and had closed San Marcos university in Lima.

Cable from Lima.
On the following May 23 The Tribune received the following cable: "Lima, May 21.—Referring to the special Tribune telegram from Buenos Aires appearing in The Tribune of April 23, I regret to see that American newspapers of high standing should give circulation and credence to the undoubtedly inspired, false and garbled dispatch from a point so remote as Buenos Aires concerning conditions alleged to exist in Peru."

"Assuredly the American press, renowned for its sense of fair play and its initiative in securing accurate and unprejudiced news of whatever cost from the remotest parts of the world, is not compelled to rely on stray travelers arriving at Buenos Aires for information regarding conditions prevailing in this country, especially at a time when extensive government irrigation undertakings are being carried out under the direction of American engineers, when the American naval mission has in hand the reorganization of the Peruvian navy, when a large American educational mission is in charge of the reorganization of the Peruvian schools, and when in every walk and branch of the national and public life the most modern influences have been called on to instruct and reorganize."

"Political exiles comprise a small group of reactionary malcontents who after failing in a conspiracy involving the suborning of the army and assassinating Leguia, were expelled from Peru as a warning that the present duly constituted government will not tolerate political interference endangering the public interest and good name of this country."

[Signed] RICARDO ESPINOSA, "Director of Government."

After a preliminary investigation The Tribune on May 24 cable: "Ricardo Espinosa, Director of Government, Lima, Peru, via All America: Carefully studied your important dispatch and Tribune anxious to obtain complete facts regarding Peruvian business. Will you permit Tribune reporter to visit Peru, interview you and report conditions?"

"CHICAGO TRIBUNE."
No reply being received, The Tribune on June 1 again cable: "Ricardo Espinosa, director of government, Lima, Peru: CHICAGO TRIBUNE awaits your permission for correspondent to visit Peru. Tribune."

Invitation From Peru.
On June 4 The Tribune received the following cable: "The Tribune, Chicago: Tendre mucho gusto en recibir correspondencia importante periodica y le propongo facilidades y datos que desea obtener para que informe a los lectores de la Tribune sobre la situacion Peru."

[Signed] RICARDO ESPINOSA, "Director de Gobierno."

On June 8 The Tribune cable: "Ricardo Espinosa, director of government, Lima, Peru: CHICAGO TRIBUNE correspondent, John White, waiting Peru through Yonconay, about June 16. Will you please advise whether?"

CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Seven Weeks' Inquiry.
The Tribune correspondent, John White, arrived in Lima on June 16 and remained in Peru for seven weeks. An American "energy" with a sound knowledge of Spanish and experienced in the ways of South America, he found no obstacles to a thorough investigation of conditions. But, at

LLOYD GEORGE URGES ANOTHER JAPAN TREATY

Sees No Need for U. S. to Object.

BY JOSEPH FREEMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By the Chicago Tribune.]
LONDON, Aug. 18.—"I do not see why it is impossible to remember our obligations to Japan and to preserve our friendship for that great country, and at the same time preserve a spirit of fraternity with the United States," declared Prime Minister Lloyd George in the house of commons this afternoon in a discussion of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

"There is a real test of the alliance in the late war," he added, "and none who watched what happened could come to any other conclusion than that it was loyally and faithfully interpreted and carried out by our Japanese allies."

"The continuation of the alliance, the prime minister said, does not mean that Great Britain is 'continuing an alliance against any one else, and certainly not against the United States.'"

Guarantee for World Peace.
"It is a cardinal principle of British policy, and must be, that we should act in as complete an accord with the United States as any two countries can," he continued. "If the alliance with Japan can emerge into a greater understanding with Japan and with the United States of America on all problems of the Pacific, it would be a great event which would be a guarantee for the peace of the world."

"The surest way to make a success of any disarmament conference is first of all to effect an understanding on the Pacific, and I am still hopeful that it will be reached. The United States and the British empire, in an agreement on the principles of world's policy, ought to base that as an absolute guarantee for the peace of the world, and I am still hopeful of such an understanding as would make us feel a partnership would ensue from the coming conference at Washington."

Must Have Greatest Navy.
Mr. Lloyd George made these remarks in the course of a statement on the imperial conference, which, he said, did not take up the Irish question.

"It is not the sort of question you would go into of your own free will," he remarked.

He announced that the imperial conference had decided that "the empire must have a naval force equal to that of any country in the world."

In view of the offer of dominion status to southern Ireland it is interesting to note the prime minister's statements on the position of the dominions.

Tells of Dominion Unity.
"It was the general feeling of the imperial conference," he said, "that it would be a mistake to lay down rules and to embark on definitions as to what the British empire means. To do so would be to weaken its unity. We came to the conclusion that the fact was the thing that mattered. There was an understanding that on all questions of foreign policy the dominions should be informed and, so far as the distance permitted, consulted."

"We do not want to interfere with their internal affairs and they do not want to interfere with ours, but they do want to feel that they are a part of this amazing organization which is the first thing of its kind the world has ever seen."

Britain 'Accepts with Joy.'
LONDON, Aug. 18.—[United Press.]—"We have accepted with joy and delight the invitation of the United States to a conference on disarmament," Prime Minister Lloyd George wrote today in a message to Caerphilly voters, supporting a coalition candidate.

"I pray the result will lead us towards peace-making the Pacific ocean really pacific. As long as nations war against each other wars will ensue. I hope we will reach some understanding, some real arrangement to keep armaments within reasonable limits."

ARREST RICKARD FOR FIGHT FILM; FINE OR JAIL?

Denied Immunity on $1,000 N. Y. Fine.

Will Tex Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Carpenter match, have the same experience with the federal authorities in Chicago as he had in New York—pay a $1,000 fine and thereafter make public exhibitions of the fight pictures at a large profit.

Or.

Will Rickard's second encounter with the federal laws draw him a year's jail sentence from Judge Landis in addition to the fine?

Experts on chances were considering this pair of possibilities last night after Rickard had been arrested and held to the federal grand jury in bonds of $10,000 by United States Commissioner James R. Glass for violating the statute prohibiting the interstate shipment of prize fight films.

Pleaded Guilty in East.
Rickard's experience in New York over his first offense against this federal law was interesting. Without waiting to be indicted, he and Fred C. Quimby, who has charge of the distribution of the films, pleaded guilty to bringing the pictures from New Jersey into New York state, threw themselves on the mercy of the court and accepted the lesser of the two penalties provided by the law, a fine of $1,000. Their plea then was that they merely had brought the pictures across the river to exhibit them to the wounded soldiers.

Judge William B. Sheppard, in the United States District court, New York, sympathized with them to the extent of remitting in his decision, that he believed the law preventing the interstate shipment of fight films was "an unnecessary interference by congress with the police powers of the states."

New York Profits Large.
Rickard, having already exhibited the pictures all over New Jersey, immediately distributed them to the New York theaters. He is credited with having cleaned up $50,000 there already. Last night they were being shown to packed houses in New York at the 44th street theater, just off Broadway; the Riviera, 96th street and Broadway; the Bronx Opera house and Shubert's Keller and Crescent theaters in Brooklyn. The weekly profits to the film owners from the five theaters are estimated at $10,000, although Quimby refused to admit this to a New York representative of The Tribune last night.

"The pictures are playing to capacity houses," Quimby admitted, "but I cannot discuss the receipts without the sanction of Mr. Rickard."

Clinnin Spurns Immunity Plea.
When reformers protested against the exhibition of the pictures in New York, United States District Attorney Hayward held that he could be punished only once for bringing the films into the state and that the federal authorities had "nothing to do with the question of what use is made of the films."

Encouraged by the mild results of this eastern encounter with the law, Rickard brought the films to Chicago and made the same initial play to the public by showing the pictures to the wounded soldiers at the United States Public Health hospital at 47th street and Drexel boulevard Wednesday night. When Acting United States District Attorney John V. Clinnin sent for him yesterday Rickard pointed to the New York decisions. Col. Clinnin replied that he might be immune from further prosecution in New York, but that had no bearing on his second violation of the law, which rather aggravated the offense.

Col. Clinnin filed information against Rickard before the commissioner and the latter issued a warrant. The fight promoter, accompanied by his attorney, Albert Fink, appeared in the commissioner's office at 4 o'clock, was taken into custody by Marshal Thomas Henneberry and gave bond. Rickard then left for New York, saying he planned to return with the pictures to movie theaters throughout the state. But even should the Chicago censors allow the pictures to be shown, Col. Clinnin probably will ask for a restraining order from the federal court forbidding their exhibition.

More Wounded Men See Film.
The pictures were shown last night at the Marine hospital, where Rickard's name was cheered by the patients when it was announced that he was responsible for the "treat."

"We have eighty-five patients," said a nurse, "and all of them saw the pictures with the exception of those who are confined to their beds."

Tonight they will be shown at the Speedway hospital, outside the city limits, and later will be taken to Fort Sheridan and Camp Grant at Rockford.

SAVANNAH PRESS TRADES GREETINGS WITH TRIBUNE RADIO

The radio transmitter of The Tribune on the plant building, North Michigan avenue, buzzed and grunted for a bit. Then Operator L. E. Dutton alienated the sending machine and turned about to his typewriter, the radio phones clamped to his ears. Clear above the whine and crash of static he heard the swift sharp signals coming in reply to his message that he was ready to receive. And he wrote this: "Savannah, Ga., Aug. 18, Managing Editor, Tribune, Chicago: "Greetings from South Atlantic's busiest port to the greatest metropolis of the west."

"W. G. SUTLIVE,"
Managing Editor, Savannah Press.

Five minutes later The Tribune transmitter buzzed and grunted again: "W. G. SUTLIVE, Managing Editor, The Press, Savannah, Ga. "THE TRIBUNE is happy to receive your message of greetings by wireless and hastens to reciprocate. Good luck to your lovely Georgia metropolis from this big town by the big lakes."

"R. O. K." shot back Operator F. A. Hill at Savannah—which is a radio patrol for "Received correctly."

The Tribune transmitter has been exchanging messages with Savannah for several nights, this being the first inter-newspaper wireless circuit in the world.

BOY SCOUTS GET SOUTH POLE TRIP

Shackleton Picks Two Out of Field of Ten.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—[By the Associated Press.]—Two Scotch Boy Scouts will shortly embark on a cruise of adventure such as their comrades throughout the world daily dream about, for Sir Ernest H. Shackleton, the antarctic explorer, has selected them from among ten competitors to accompany him in his coming antarctic expedition as cabin boys aboard his ship, the Quest.

The youths are Patrol Leaders J. W. S. Marr of Aberdeen, aged 16, and E. Mooney of Kirkwall, in the Orkney Islands, aged 17.

The ten picked applicants came to London from all parts of the United Kingdom. Yesterday Sir Ernest interviewed them and found so much talent that he could not make a decision until today.

Tommy Mooney came all the way from the stormy Orkneys, a journey of 600 miles. He had never seen passenger trains before and was so confused by the big city and its strangers that Sir Ernest could not get him to talk. However, Mooney has a winning personality and knows all about boats and the sea, as does Marr.

The Quest will sail at the end of this month, to be gone two or more years.

Think Spurgin Bank Maw Got Colosimo Cash

Search for the "missing fortune" of James Colosimo, the 224 street personage who was mysteriously killed—a fortune estimated by some at $100,000—centered yesterday in an examination of the affairs of Warren C. Spurgin, defaulting president of the Michigan Avenue Trust company.

Friends of Colosimo, among them "Johnny" Torrio, "Ike" Bloom, proprietor of Freiburg's dance hall, "Joe" Grabner and "Izzy" Lazarus, are said never to have lost interest in the search for "Big Jim's" money, in the hope that it might be restored to his heirs, among them Dale Winter, his actress bride of a few weeks.

Banked in Spurgin Institution.
Colosimo is known to have transacted his banking business with Spurgin's establishment. Immediately after the murder of the restaurant keeper his business associates sought to determine the amount of his estate. "Mike" Posen, Colosimo's partner, estimated the cash deposit at $100,000. But when the bank account was examined nothing was found.

There is now a strong suspicion that Colosimo's money, if it can be established that he carried such a large amount with Spurgin's bank, never was accounted for and that in some manner it disappeared.

Will Form Trust Company.
There is to be a meeting of creditors tonight in the parlors of the Immanuel Baptist church. There will be announced a reorganization growing out of the wrecked Spurgin bank to be known as the Equitable Trust Company of Chicago.

It is said Lawrence Whiting is to be president. The capital will be $500,000.

SENATE, HOUSE DEADLOCK ON SEARCH CLAUSE

Reed Makes Bitter
Attack on Wheeler.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—The storm which has been developing over the Campbell-Willis anti-beer bill swept across the floor of the senate today.

When adjournment was taken no definite progress had been made and the senate and house conferees, who were again collected in the judiciary committee rooms, were forced to admit that they were at odds and unable to reach a conclusion. Another attempt will be made tomorrow.

The senate demanded that its conferees stand firm on the Stanley amendment, which provided fines and imprisonment for any dry enforcement officer who "violated the constitution" in searching without warrant homes, suitcases, or automobiles for liquor. The house refused to go further than to forbid the search of homes, which it interpreted as including hotel or boarding house rooms occupied permanently.

Ashurst Bolts Conference.
Senator Ashurst of Arizona, Democrat, told the senate he had bolted the conference because he no longer would be a party to attempts to break down the constitution in fanatical efforts to enforce bone dry prohibition.

Three hours of heated discussion ensued. Wayne B. Wheeler, Anti-Saloon league counsel, and Representative Andrew J. Volstead, Minnesota, leader of the radical drys in the house, were the targets for denunciation by Senator Reed of Missouri.

Senator Ashurst declared a man "wouldn't be a very good American" if he failed to knock down a prohibition agent who attempted without warrant to search his property.

Hostilities began when Senator Sterling of South Dakota, in charge of the Campbell-Willis bill, presented a formal motion to disagree to the house substitute for the Stanley amendment. Senator Ashurst told why he had bolted the conference.

Fears 'Picking of Pockets.'
Senator Ashurst denounced the house substitute for the Stanley amendment as "doubly vicious because it sets up breweries and distilleries in the homes, and because, under its provisions, you will still be subject to being held up by prohibition agents, your pockets picked, your grips torn open and your automobile searched."

Senator McCormick of Illinois jokingly suggested that Senator Ashurst must have had some experience on the Baltimore-Washington pike, the scene of many "dry holdups." Senator Ashurst denied any such experience.

"But if I had been stopped," he added, "and a prohibition officer had poked his face into my machine, I would have asked him to display his warrant. And if he had not been able to produce a warrant, I would have done something more than words and sent that every good American ought to do."

Advices Using Fists.
"If a prohibition agent comes to your door and tries to get into your home without a warrant, you aren't a very good American if you don't knock him down."

Senator Reed read newspaper dispatches that Wheeler had been present during the conference. He asked Senator Sterling if that was true. Senator Sterling first said the inquiry was "improper" and "not material," but later admitted Wheeler had come into the conference room towards the close of the session.

Senator Reed interpreted that as an admission of the truth of the newspaper statement.

Reed Pillories Wheeler.
"The admission of a paid lobbyist to interfere in the deliberations of a conference is an innovation, a solecism, and a piece of unwarranted and unmitigated insolence," Senator Reed said.

"It is destructive and unfair. If Wayne Wheeler, representative of the Anti-Saloon league, may be admitted, why not admit the representative of the Saloon league?"

"The activities of lobbyists has become a stench in the public nostrils, and now we have an instance where one of them has the cool impudence to carry his propaganda into the secret if not sacred sessions of the conferees."

"Mr. Wheeler sat in the gallery and listened to Senator Reed's speech. When the speaker had reached this point, the dry spokesman dashed away to prepare a statement in reply to Reed's charges. Meanwhile, the Missouri senator devoted a few minutes to Representative Volstead."

"I never had the pleasure of seeing, until the other day, the distin-

FLOOD WIPES OUT TWO TOWNS IN NEW MEXICO

Las Cruces, N. M., Aug. 18.—The towns of Santa Teresa and Hatch, N. M., about thirty-eight miles from here, were destroyed early this morning when a cloudburst fell on the former, forming a flood which raced down the arroyo into the basin in which Hatch was built, driving the 500 residents, lightly clad, to the hills and leaving the town under seven to fifteen feet of water. No loss of life was reported.

The United States reclamation service rushed to the scene, began organization of relief, and installed a radio outfit which has transmitted news of the plight of the inhabitants. Every dwelling and business house in both towns has been destroyed, according to the reports.

The situation of Hatch is seemingly hopeless. The service reports that only the digging of a deep canal will release the water.

HEIR TO THRONE OF JUGO-SLAVIA ILL IN FRANCE

PARIS, Aug. 18.—[By the Associated Press.]—Prince Regent Alexander of Jugo-Slavia, son of late King Peter of Serbia, is dangerously ill of appendicitis and is incognito in Paris, instead of being about to enter Belgrade as dispatches from that city have reported. The prognosis is favorable, however. It is officially announced he will be unable to attend the funeral of his father in Belgrade.

The condition of Alexander apparently has been known to only a few persons, as dispatches from Belgrade tonight dealt with his formal accession to the throne of Jugo-Slavia to occur on Aug. 26. He is being attended by Dr. Bernard Cunee, professor of the medical faculty of the university of Paris and Dr. Albert Bandelac de Pariente.

Sluggish of Aged Woman Slain; Her Nephew Held

Louis (Smittle) Belerski got out of the bedwell yesterday, where he had been sent for slugging Mrs. Anna Churchill, a woman of 60 years. Belerski met Thomas Dorris, nephew of Mrs. Churchill, at 47th street and Racine avenue last night. They had a row and Belerski was shot three times and killed. Doors were arrested.

Fifth Avenue, New York, Enjoys Chase for a Deer

New York, Aug. 18.—Fifth avenue experienced a new thrill today—a deer hunt. Hundreds joined in pursuit of a big buck which escaped from the Central park zoo. It was finally halted by a patrolman, who, leaping from the running board of an automobile, pinned the animal to the ground.

Mistakes Alleged 'Peepers' for Burglar; Shoots Him

John Deblere, 22 years old, 1326 West 51st street, an alleged "Peeping Tom" was shot twice this morning by Donald Moore, 6237 Champlain avenue, when the latter saw him peering into his bedroom window and mistook him for a burglar. Moore notified the police. He was not held.

RIOT IN RAINBO GARDENS; POLICE QUELL BIG FIGHT

The Rainbo gardens closed last night in a blaze of glory. It was a free-for-all, in which employees, patrons, and the police participated. The police won.

Dolly Fowler is an entertainer. She and William Westlake go up together in an "airplane" that "flies" over the heads of the customers and sing a song while thus aviating. Robert McCarthy, another entertainer, and sweetheart of Dolly, objected last night to Westlake's part in the act. They had words. Then blows. One thing led to another and pretty soon a serious part of the crowd was engaged.

A riot act brought the officers. Westlake, McCarthy, and Dolly were arrested, but the manager of the Rainbo persuaded the police not to book them.

'MOONSHINE' GA., DESERTED AFTER RAID BY DRYS

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 18.—A moonshine village, located on a canal bank deep in a swamp along the Ogeechee river, was destroyed by prohibition officers. Inhabitants of the village fled every appearance of having been in existence for a year. Ten big stills were in operation. All the stills were destroyed.

Boy of 28 Months Can Use 1,038 Words

Galesburg, Ill., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—State scores at the district fair today found a "perfect 7 months" old baby, James Ross Stephenson of Monmouth, Richard Thompson, son of Professor Thompson of Lombard college, 28 months old, was found to have a vocabulary of 1,038 words.

Burglars Pass Up Art for Rich Evanstonian's Booze

Thieves gained entrance to the home of R. C. Greer, wealthy insurance man, 1828 Hinman avenue, Evanston, yesterday, and after ignoring Mr. Greer's silver service and several fine paintings, went to the basement and stole three cases of ten year old whiskey and four wine glasses. Mr. Greer, in reporting the theft, said he felt the loss keenly.

MAYOR TO TAKE OUTING TO MAKE UP LOST SLEEP

Mayor Thompson, after devoting twenty hours a day to the Pageant of Progress, is planning a week's fishing trip in the north to recuperate from the worry and loss of sleep.

The mayor, it was stated, will make the trip a vacation jaunt for those of his friends who worked with him to make the pageant a success. Politics is to be banished from the junket.

Friends, as contra-distinguished from political allies, will make the trip, the mayor's friends say. The destination of the party has not been decided. Some of the mayor's friends are urging him to go to an out-of-the-way lake in Canada. He will leave about Oct. 1.

Mayor Thompson left for Oconomowoc, Wis., last night to spend the week end with his sister, Mrs. William Nelson Pelouse.

"Fluovierist" Resents Noise of Pedestrian; Shoots Him

John J. Burns, 23 years old, a clerk, 5344 Laflin street, was shot in the left leg last night by one of five men in a "diver" who resented the noise Burns and a friend were making at the West 48th and Laflin streets. Burns was standing on the sidewalk when the five drove up. One of the men told Burns he was making too much noise. A quarrel ensued, followed by the shooting.

JAPS SWEEP DAY AGAINST INDIA IN DAVIS CUP PLAY

Capture Two Matches in Event at Onwentsia.

DAVIS CUP STANDING

	W.	L.	Pct.
Japan	2	0	1.000
India	0	2	.000

Today's match—Ichihya Kumagae and Zensho Shimidzu, Japan, vs. A. H. Fyze and L. S. Deane, India, in doubles.
Time—8 o'clock, at Onwentsia club, Lake Forest.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
Japan, and not India, will be the first oriental nation to challenge tennis supremacy of the white players, in all probability. Competing in the first matches of the Davis cup semi-final round on the turf courts of the Onwentsia club at Lake Forest yesterday, the Japanese experts swept the day's program, by capturing both single matches in straight sets.

Capt. Ichihya Kumagae of Japan, for five years a redoubtable figure in tournament play in America, defeated Mahommed Slem of India, 3-7, 6-1, 6-1. Zensho Shimidzu of Japan, who brought to this country a European record to match the American successes of Kumagae, defeated Dr. A. H. Fyze of India in the second match of the afternoon, 6-2, 6-1, 3-7. A bright, clear, gusty day, with a light breeze, and the fitting fortunes of the court and was generously neutral in applause.

Within One Match of Victory.
The result leaves Japan within one day of victory in the Davis cup series here, and this victory may come in this afternoon's doubles match, as three of the five scheduled matches constitute a team victory.

Should Japan win today, the islanders will qualify to play Australasia, which last week defeated Denmark in the other Davis cup semi-final at Cleveland. This match against the Australasians will be played at Newport, R. I., within a week and will constitute the final round of the 1921 Davis cup series. Should the Japanese experts triumph in the remaining contests with India—as they are topsy-turvy favorites to do—then vanquish the Australasian team—which would not surprise followers of international tennis—it will be up to America to uphold supremacy of the white players in the Davis cup challenge round.

America Present Champion.
The American team, which last December wrested the coveted international trophy from Australasia in Auckland, New Zealand, holds the role of defending champion and is not playing through the mill of preliminary rounds which yesterday cast the representatives of the two Asiatic nations upon the courts at Lake Forest to settle the matter of supremacy.

Tournament experience clearly was on the side of the Nipponese in yesterday's tussles. Both Jap players shifted their game to meet the weak spots in their opponents' defense, and both Kumagae and Shimidzu possessed the essential finishing punch, which in tennis of Davis cup caliber is exemplified by just the right stroke to terminate a long rally.

Sometimes it was a skimming drive just in inch beyond the Hindu's racket reach; once in a while it was a zipping, unreturnable service, and often it was a keen placement shot to the corner of the opposite court where recovery was hardest.

Great Display of Steadiness.
Neither of the Indians, with less tournament experience, and a more varied variety of strokes, seemed able to whittle the Japs down to their style of play, which centered on steadiness. Slem gave a fine display of rock steady steadiness in his match against Kumagae, but steadiness proved nothing but a defense against the stinging drives and chops of "Ichy," and he is axiomatic in sport, the man with the strong attack beat the man with the steady defense. Slem's game gave way in the closing frames of the first set.

Fyze battled Shimidzu with much more pace than his compatriot, Slem, had showed, but he was more prone to errors, and after Fyze had won the first two games of the match, Shimidzu stemmed his attack by whipping sharp, fast falling cross court shots to first one sideline and then the other.

Slem's Service Soft.
Kumagae decided his match against Slem in the closing games of the first set when he proved that his individual brilliance was stronger than Slem's defense. The Indian made a fight of the first set mainly by his steadiness and his ability to place his shots with unerring direction. The steady, however, had little chance in the closing frames of the first set.

Fyze battled Shimidzu with much more pace than his compatriot, Slem, had showed, but he was more prone to errors, and after Fyze had won the first two games of the match, Shimidzu stemmed his attack by whipping sharp, fast falling cross court shots to first one sideline and then the other.

Kumagae Finishes Fast.
These tactics earned many points for the Hindu and sufficed to keep Kumagae in the rear court for the first set. In the second and third sets Kumagae made the going so fast for his opponent the latter had no chance to try the niceties of his lob. Point scores:

	First Set.	Second Set.	Third Set.
Kumagae	6-2	6-1	3-7
Slem	2-6	1-6	7-3

Fyze jumped into a two game lead against Shimidzu, but these games were his only portion in the first set. The Jap began crossing his sharp shots half way down the court, first to one side line and then the other, and turned the play to his own style of rock steady drives. Fyze had a much stronger service than Slem but it was not strong enough to bother the Nipponese expert, who used two services of his

WASHINGTON NEWS—IN BRIEF—

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 18. The house concluded general debate on the tax bill and will begin the consideration of amendments tomorrow. It is expected that more than 60 amendments, most of them of a minor nature, will be presented from the ways and means committee.

The senate finance committee finished hearings on the chemical schedule of the tariff bill and will take up the earthenware and glassware schedule tomorrow.

The senate was enlivened today by stirring debate over prohibition when conferees on the anti-beer bill asked for further instructions. The senate voted to stand by its amendment making search and seizure without a warrant a criminal offense. Senator Ashurst, who bolted the conference committee, said no man was a good American citizen who would not knock down a prohibition agent who invaded his premises without a warrant.

The administration hopes to make some announcement regarding peace negotiations with Germany within a few days.

SUESEX-HUSBAND FOR $100,000; CHARGES TRICK

When Dorothy Choe Willson of Atlanta, Ga., married Earl A. Willson, Chicago bond broker, on Feb. 4, 1920, she possessed $73,200. Her husband, now divorced, and his friend, Andrew Koehn, a St. Louis detective, defrauded her out of it, she charges. She filed a suit yesterday for $100,000 against the two men to get back her money.

The declaration states that after the wedding Koehn took the money, which had been given by her to her husband, from a safety deposit box in St. Louis and brought it to Willson in Chicago, where they made their home. On June 29 last, the bill avers, Willson sued for divorce. Mrs. Ford Rodman Carter's costume was picturesque, her dress being of red and white heavy linen and her hat of red straw trimmed with a wreath of white flowers.

Mrs. David Adler, always one of the most distinctively gowned young women in society, wore a white canton crepe gown, a leghorn sports hat, and a white crepe cape which had for its distinguishing feature a large collar of black velvet scalloped around the edge.

Mrs. A. Watson Armour, who was accompanied by her little son and daughter, was in gray, her felt hat, wool jersey gown, hose, and slippers all being of that soft shade. Mrs. Lester Armour's blonde prettiness was set off to advantage by a white skirt and white felt hat and a lavender sweater.

Others Who Attended.
Some others in the boxes were Mrs. and Mrs. Howard Linn, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Niblack, Miss Madeleine Childs, Miss Florence Addington, Ford R. Carter Jr., Mrs. Cyrus Edison Manter, Miss Isabella Holt, Howard F. Gillette, Miss Katharine Linn, Scott Linn, Hunt Wentworth, Miss Marie Roset, Mrs. W. Prescott Hunt Jr., Mrs. Edward F. Carry.

Mrs. William R. Linn entertained a party consisting of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Leander McCormick, and Mr. and Mrs. Owen B. Jones. Mrs. Cyrus McCormick and Mrs. Leander McCormick, both of whom have Titian hair, wore white, and Mrs. Jones gave color to the party with a sweater and hat of maroon. Mrs. Leander McCormick wore a white felt hat, and carelessly flung around her shoulders was a cobwebby scarf of white and orange. Felt hats, by the way, seem now to be as necessary to a correct sports costume as flat heeled shoes.

White, which was worn by many of the young girls, was the keynote of the day's contests and dusk, Capt. S. M. Jacob of the Indian team pitted Deane, one of the doubles "hopes," against Clifton B. Herd, a hard thumping, slashing player of Chicago, in a fast practice match, with the intention of warming Deane up for this afternoon's encounter.

SOCIETY SEES GAMES

Of course the main attraction at the tennis matches at Onwentsia yesterday afternoon was the playing of Mr. Kumagae, Mr. Shimidzu, Mr. Slem, and Mr. Fyze, but running it a close second was the smart attire of the feminine portion of the gallery.

Mrs. J. F. Marston of New York, the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wellesley H. Stillwell in Lake Forest, was the cynosure of all eyes before Mr. Kumagae and Mr. Slem had started their match, for her costume was unusually attractive. Her gown of French blue crepe was drawn in at the waist with a sash of brilliant orange Japanese embroidery. She wore a large drooping hat of transparent cloth of gold, and covering the lower part of her face was a dark gray harem veil. Mrs. Stillwell, one of the prettiest young women in the Lake Forest set, looked very attractive in a simple gown of apricot canton crepe and a hat of darker apricot taffeta trimmed with grapes of self material and faced with black.

BONDS FOUND IN WORTHINGTON'S OFFICE STOLEN

Bonds valued at $2,000 found in the office of John W. Worthington shortly after his arrest on a charge of disposing of stolen government securities were identified yesterday as part of the loot from a bank robbery at Gallien, Mich., last March.

The identification forms another link in the chain of evidence federal authorities have been forging to show that Worthington was head of a ring organized to dispose of the loot gathered by a nation-wide band of robbers who specialized in banks and post-offices. Identification of the bonds yesterday was confirmed later through a telegram from officials of the Gallien bank.

ONE VICTIM OF RODRIGUEZ GUN DIES OF WOUNDS

Arthur Kowohl, 2735 W. Division street, who, with Edward Katchke, 2620 Thomas street, was shot early yesterday by Earl Rodriguez, a city fireman and brother of former Ald. W. E. Rodriguez, died late last night. The shooting occurred in the saloon of Frank Kraack, 1056 North Sacramento avenue. Police are searching for Miss Sylvia Meyers, a waitress, and another woman who were in the saloon. At first Rodriguez said the shooting was the result of his defense of the Meyers woman. Later he denied this, saying it was an outbreak of an old quarrel.

Police say they have information that the trouble dates back to Rodriguez's divorce a year ago. At that time, it is said, Rodriguez asked the two men to aid him in getting evidence against his wife. Later, the police assert, he accused the men of being too friendly with her, and this led to a fight in which Rodriguez was beaten. He is under arrest.

REPORT BLAMES GEN. ANSELL FOR BERGDOLL FIASCO

Cols. Hunt and Cresson Also Condemned.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—Charges that Grover C. Bergdoll, millionaire draft dodger, was aided in his escape to Germany by a conspiracy in which Gen. Samuel T. Ansell, Col. John E. Hunt, and Col. C. C. Cresson played the leading parts, were made today in a sensational report of a majority of the Bergdoll investigating committee to the house.

The report was signed by three members of the committee, Representatives Johnson of Kentucky, Democrat; Flood of Virginia, Democrat; and Lull of Indiana, Republican. At the same time the minority, consisting of Representative Peters of Maine, Republican, and Representative McArthur of Oregon, Republican, filed a report differing from their colleagues, and laying the blame upon the shoulders of Gen. Peter C. Harris, adjutant-general of the army.

Former Judge Advocate-General.

Gen. Ansell, who was formerly acting judge advocate-general of the army, was one of Bergdoll's counsel. Col. Hunt was commandant at Governor's Island, where Bergdoll was imprisoned prior to his escape. Col. Cresson was the officer who prosecuted Col. Hunt in the court martial proceedings following Bergdoll's escape.

"While there are many who participated in the conspiracy leading to Bergdoll's escape and the acquittal of those who brought it about, there are three who are infinitely more culpable than the rest. Those three are Gen. Ansell, Col. Hunt, and Col. C. C. Cresson," the majority declared.

The majority held that Col. Hunt, commandant of the barracks at Governor's Island, from which Bergdoll escaped on his errand, was directly responsible for the slacker's escape through failure to handcuff him or to provide an adequate guard.

Cresson's Conduct "Indefensible."

As a basis for his criticism of Col. Cresson, the majority report said that "as ugly as are the many phases of the whole matter, none is more defensible than the conduct of Col. Cresson. In his pretense of prosecution of Col. Hunt, tried by court martial in connection with the Bergdoll scandal, Maj. Bruce R. Campbell, accused by Bergdoll's mother of having accepted $5,000 to help obtain freedom for the prisoner, was exonerated by the majority."

Wanting S. to Get "Ppt of Gold."

The report recommended that Gen. Ansell, whom it characterized as "the master mind," of all those associated with the plan of Bergdoll's escape, be discharged from practice in the courts of the nation, "above whose safety and integrity he has placed gold."

It urged that steps be taken to cut off the pay of Col. Hunt as a retired army officer drawing $5,000 annually.

It expressed the hope that Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian, would compel Mrs. Emma Bergdoll, mother of the slacker, to produce the $100,000 pot of gold which she buried near Philadelphia, prior to her son's escape.

It also recommended the dismissal of Earl B. Wood of the department of justice, for failing to take proper steps when the department was warned that Bergdoll would make an effort to escape.

Minority Report Criticizes Harris.

The minority agreed that Bergdoll gained his escape through a conspiracy, but confined the list of participants to Dr. Clarence Giboney, chief counsel for Bergdoll, Judge R. H. Stecher, the Bergdoll family adviser, and the Stecher, the Bergdoll chauffeur.

Characterized Gen. Ansell's conduct as "extraordinary" and criticized the military court martial for acquitting Col. Hunt of neglect of duty in connection with Bergdoll's escape.

"The primary responsibility for the situation which made possible the escape rests upon Gen. Harris," the minority declared. It explained that Gen. Harris gave the order, at Gen. Ansell's request, for the temporary release of Bergdoll for the gold hunting expedition in the western Maryland mountains. But, it added, "there is no question of improper motives on the part of Gen. Harris."

He merely yielded to the pleas of his former colleague, Gen. Ansell, who in turn had fallen "a willing victim to Giboney's misrepresentations and machinations," the minority held.

Gen. Ansell's Statement.

Following publication of the report Gen. Ansell issued a statement replying to the majority charges.

"The two Democratic members, Johnson of Kentucky, and Flood of Virginia, aided by Representative Lull, in their report maliciously assume what they want to prove and then twist the evidence to that end," said Gen. Ansell. "The Johnson report starts in by assuming guilt and then fabricates every circumstance to fit that assumption."

SOME CHICAGO OPERA STARS

Lina Cavalleri, wife of the tenor, Lucien Muratore, who will be heard in "Thais," "Tosca," "Werther," and "The Tales of Hoffman."

Edith Mason, American soprano, will make her first Chicago Grand Opera appearance in "Madame Butterfly."

Claire Du, lyric soprano, will make her American debut here as Mimi in "La Boheme."

MANY NEW STARS WILL GLITTER IN CHICAGO OPERA

Spangler Back; Tells of Mary's Plans.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

"Mary Garden is well, happy and tanned. She goes swimming every day of her life in the Mediterranean. The rest of her time she is passing in the country just outside of Monte Carlo, trying for the present to avoid as many visitors as possible."

George M. Spangler, business manager of the Chicago Opera association, returned to Chicago from Europe yesterday with a report of the organization's general manager, further stating that she would be back here in October ready for the new season.

"We went to practically every place in Europe where opera singers were to be heard," he continued, "and twenty-one new names are on the roster."

Some of the New Stars.

The list includes: Vicente Bailester, Spanish baritone from the Teatro Real, Madrid.

Lina Cavalleri, wife of the tenor, Lucien Muratore, who will return to the opera stage this fall.

Jeanne Dusseau, a French-Canadian soprano.

Claire Du, lyric soprano, famous in Vienna and Berlin.

Maria Ivogun, coloratura soprano, known in the same cities.

Nina Koshetz, Russian soprano.

Edward Lankow, Polish basso.

Lidia Lipkowska, Russian coloratura soprano.

Mary McCormick, a native American soprano and special protégée of Miss Garden.

Edith Mason, American lyric soprano, former star of the Metropolitan and at Ravinia.

Gazella Pareto, Italian coloratura soprano.

Tino Pattiera, Dalmatian tenor.

Paul Payan, French basso.

Theodore Ritch, Russian tenor.

Eleanor Reynolds, American contralto.

Antoine Rocca, tenor.

Jeanne Schneider, French soprano.

Richard Schubert, rated as the best German tenor.

Joseph Schwarz, German baritone.

Jerome Uhl, baritone.

James Wolf, American basso.

Miss Garden Will Sing.

These will be only a part of the company. Miss Garden and Mr. Spangler have reengaged thirty-four more who have established themselves in the affections of the Chicago opera going public.

Among the notable features of the coming season will be the world premiere of "The Love of Three Oranges," delayed for two years, and the American premiere of "Sneгурotchka" (The Snow Maiden), with Miss Lipkowska in the chief rôle. This artist's announced appearance in "The Merry Widow," according to Mr. Spangler, has been so arranged that she will be able to appear with the Chicago company as well.

U. S. OFFICIALS EXPECT TO BARE RAILWAY SWINDLE

With the arraignment of Russell Shnyder, 6144 South Honore avenue, yesterday before United States Commissioner James R. Glass, government officials took the first steps to defeat what they believe to be a scheme to swindle railroads with Chicago terminals, and to extract money from express companies.

Shnyder owns the Aroma Extract Flavoring company, 159 West Kinzie street. The warrant issued for his apprehension charges him with defrauding the Rock Island railroad of $127.50 on a forged bill of lading in violation of the bill of lading act of 1916.

U. S. TREATY WITH GERMANY NEARS DEFINITE TERMS

Secrecy Veils Status of Negotiations.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—[Special.]—The Washington government hopes to make some announcement relating to peace negotiations with Germany within a few days.

Nothing regarding the status of those negotiations could be announced now, it was stated in an official quarter, but it could be said that the administration is expecting important developments which could be disclosed in the near future.

The forthcoming announcement was reported today to concern a special preliminary agreement now being negotiated whereby commercial relations between the countries might be resumed pending the negotiation of a final treaty upon which resumption of diplomatic negotiations must depend.

Secrecy Is Rigid.

Official confirmation of this report could not be obtained. Absolute secrecy is being maintained at the White House and state department, although some of the intimates of the administration in official life are said to have been informed in strictest confidence during the last few days regarding the progress of the President's efforts to make peace with Germany.

The preliminary agreement, it is reported, will be in the nature of a modus vivendi or working arrangement to serve until a peace treaty can be completed and submitted to the senate for ratification.

Germans Still Bait.

The preliminary peace plan is said to have met with general approval from German government leaders who are particularly anxious for resumption of business. Efforts to negotiate a final treaty of peace are declared to have run upon several obstacles, one of them being a renewed determination upon Germany's part not to admit responsibility for the war. It is reported there are objections by Germany to pay indemnities for American lives lost through operation of the submarines.

Six Army Planes to Be Added to Mail Service

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—Six remodeled army airplanes which will carry double the amount of mail carried in the DH type machines now in use, will soon be placed in operation on the transcontinental air mail route between New York and San Francisco, the air mail service announced today.

The planes will carry 800 pounds of mail or 32,000 letters with no additional cost in fuel or pilots, the statement said, and were remodeled at a cost of $3,000, whereas the cost of new machines would have been $15,000 each.

BOY AT PLAY IN STREET KILLED BY AUTO TRUCK

Seven year old Emil Kahen, 902 North Richmond street, was killed yesterday when an automobile driven by John Brichman, 6816 Merrill avenue, struck him as he was playing in the street.

Four persons were injured, one seriously, in a crash at Marquette road and State street. Joseph O'Donnell, 2920 Archer avenue, son of Police Sergeant John O'Donnell, received a fractured skull. Three year old John Green of 6037 South Peoria street fell on a large dog which was riding in the car beside him and was not injured.

Samuel Doty, 1028 Demerco street, Evanston, whose machine struck O'Donnell's, was booked for not stopping at a boulevard.

Painful injuries were suffered by an elderly couple, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kuntz, of 1738 Baltimore avenue, when a taxicab in which they were riding overturned at Fullerton and Ashland avenues. The wheels, it is said, had caught in car tracks.

$50,000 BLAZE IN LOOP ATTRACTS HOMING CROWDS

Home bound loop crowds stopped to watch, and incidentally to hamper, firemen extinguishing flames that swept the fourth floor of the Dearborn Company building, 506 West Randolph street, late yesterday. Four young women, imperiled by the blaze, escaped uninjured.

The fire, the origin of which is undetermined, caused $50,000 damage. The Dearborn company operates a furniture and chair seat factory.

Jack Kramer, John Schulz, and J. Nargolen, employees, were slightly burned when celluloid chips and clippings caught fire in the factory of the Art Comb Mounting company, 1550 North Robey street. Kramer, hanging out of a window, was rescued by Pipe-maint Bernard Nelson of truck No. 28.

CHIEF OF SLEUTHS

WILLIAM J. BURNS.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—Appointment of William J. Burns as director of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice was announced today by Attorney General Daugherty.

Mr. Burns succeeds William J. Flynn. He will take charge of the bureau in New York tomorrow, but his headquarters will be here. He will receive a salary of $7,500 a year.

Mr. Flynn, who is now in New York, has not resigned as yet. Mr. Daugherty said, although he has been notified of the appointment of his successor.

BAR O. K.'S PLAN OF COMMITTEE TO SIFT VOTE FRAUDS

Within a few days—probably early next week—the Chicago Bar association will take court action for the appointment of a special state's attorney and the impounding of a special grand jury to prosecute frauds committed in the judicial election of June 6.

The board of managers of the association met yesterday and approved the recommendation for this action submitted by the organization's committee on candidates, which took an active part in the election. But President William Tracy Aiden and other members of the board declined to give any information concerning the action taken. They refused to confirm the reported approval of the committee's recommendation, although that fact was learned from a reliable source.

LEGION DIGS IN FOR BATTLE TO HELP JOBLESS

Each Post Will Have Employment Man.

"Say It With Jobs."

The Cook County American Legion is being organized to fight another war—a war for ex-soldiers who can not find employment.

The four minute speakers of the Legion are going to do their bit by appearing in mercantile houses and manufacturing plants. An employment officer in each post will report monthly to central headquarters on the number of unemployed men in the post and the number of jobs found open.

Large employers will be asked to flat their jobs with one agency so there will be no duplications on applications for work.

Will Watch for Vacancies.

Members of the Legion working in industrial plants and mercantile houses will watch for vacancies and report immediately to the post employment officer so an ex-serviceman on the waiting list may be sent to apply for the position.

Meanwhile, Col. John V. Clinfin, acting district attorney, in keeping a careful watch on organizations working under the guise of helping former soldiers which are in reality money making schemes. These camouflaged panhandlers and mulcters will be speedily put out of commission following the discovery of evidence that they are not bona fide.

It was stated yesterday at the federal building that the Women's league was contemplating taking over the National Ex-Service Men's Relief, which has been housed in the league's headquarters at 129 North Dearborn street.

Mrs. Bertha E. Higelow headed a committee which interviewed Col. Clinfin to discover what means should be pursued to assume control of the National Ex-Service Men's Relief.

Pastor Finds Fifty Jobs.

The Rev. Joseph B. Rogers of the La Salle Avenue Baptist church says he has found work for fifty former service men since March. Besides, he has served 29,000 breakfasts to unemployed men, including many ex-servicemen. Almost every day ex-soldiers take advantage of the Rev. Mr. Rogers's hospitality. These meals are furnished from funds raised by the Rev. Mr. Rogers.

SIXTY FAULTS IN TAX BILL FOUND BY COMMITTEE

Cockran Criticizes the Act and President.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—More than sixty amendments to the tax bill have been presented to the committee on the ways and means committee today. Most of them are of a technical nature. Inasmuch as the committee has no authority to amend the bill, the committee will have to refer the amendments to the house. The committee will have to refer the amendments to the house. The committee will have to refer the amendments to the house.

General debate on the bill in the house was concluded tonight and action on amendments will be in order tomorrow and Saturday.

Short, Ugly Word Used.

Tonight's session was enlivened by an exchange between Representative Coker, Democrat, North Carolina, and Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee, when the former charged that the Republicans in framing the bill had shifted the tax burden to the poor to benefit rich contributors to the Republican campaign fund last year.

"There is not a word of truth in the statement, and you know it," Mr. Fordney retorted.

"That statement of yours is a lie," Mr. Coker retorted.

The house was thrown into an uproar and both members reiterated their charges but the remarks were finally expunged from the record.

Among the features of the debate was a speech by Representative Coker of New York, Democrat, deploring present day rules which make the house "as useless as the electoral college."

He attacked the administration for attempting to dictate tax legislation and declared that no actual proof had been shown of the economies in governmental departments which are supposed to be effected as a means of lightening tax burdens. Mr. Coker introduced a resolution for the appointment of a committee of nine to investigate "unwarranted, illegal, and unconstitutional" actions by President Harding in addressing the senate on the question of soldiers' bonus legislation on July 12. He asserted that the constitution does not authorize the President to address either house to the exclusion of the other.

Soft Drink License Obliterated.

Among resolutions approved by Republican members of the ways and means committee, which will be presented to the house tomorrow, was one eliminating the proposed annual $10 license tax on dealers in soft drinks. It was held by members of the committee that this tax would impose an undue hardship upon small dealers.

The tax probably would have been construed as applying to organizations selling soft drinks at social affairs.

Another amendment approved exempts from taxation all money received from the war risk insurance bureau and federal vocational board.

Foreign Corporation Defined.

An amendment to the definition of a foreign trade corporation was approved. Under this amendment a foreign trade corporation is defined as one receiving at least 50 per cent of its income from sources outside

Accuser Accused

MRS. ELIZABETH HAFNER.
(TRIBUNE Photo.)

Accused before Judge Hayes in the Englewood court yesterday with plotting to murder his wife of four months, John M. Hafner, 3845 Vincennes avenue, through his attorney, Michael F. Ryan, in turn accused the accusing bride of plotting to be rid of him so she could "marry another man."

Hafner was arrested Wednesday on the complaint of his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Hafner. Charles Johnson and Henry Davis, both colored, were arrested with him. Mrs. Hafner told Sgt. E. P. Burns of the Fifth street station, that Johnson had told her Hafner had conspired to employ himself and Davis to "throw her in the lake, leaving her clothing and a suicide note on the shore."

Yesterday the Association of Commerce sent a message to President Harding and to members of congress protesting against abandonment of the original tax relief program—the Republican house caucus a few days ago took the position that the change in the tax laws should become effective for 1922 instead of 1921, meaning a year's delay. It read:

"The Chicago Association of Commerce, in behalf of its 7,000 members, protests against abandonment of the original tax relief program and insists that the interests of the country demand the repeal of the excess profits tax as of Jan. 1, this year. In our judgment, failure to do this will inflict serious injury on business and retard industrial and economic recovery based on the expected relief being retroactive. Good faith with business and the best interest of the entire of the United States. The original bill required 80 per cent to be from outside.

Another amendment applies to the provision for the taxing of profits from the sale of capital assets. The flat tax was reduced from 15 to 12 1/2 per cent. The amendment provides that if an individual's ordinary net income plus net capital gain amounts to $29,000 or more, a flat tax of 12 1/2 per cent shall apply to the net capital gain. The net capital gain is thus exempt from ordinary normal tax and surtaxes. The sum of $29,000 is a reduction from $40,000.

Nelson G. O. P. Fee of Bill.

An amendment which is under consideration would exempt a number of articles such as tooth powder and tooth paste from the proposed new 5 per cent manufacturers' tax which has been substituted for present retail sales taxes. Another would create a commission to find a solution of the problem affecting investments in tax exempt securities.

Speakers during the day's debate were Representatives Longworth of Ohio, Thaddeus of Massachusetts, Green of Iowa, Hawley of Oregon, and Young of North Dakota, all Republican members of the ways and means committee, and Representative John M. Nelson of Wisconsin, also a Republican.

Mr. Nelson was one of the few Republicans who assailed the bill. He objected to the repeal of the excess profits tax and declared that if he voted for its repeal it would mean the end of his political life.

BUSINESS HEADS URGE HASTE IN REVISING TAXES

Wire Congress Delay Will Halt Trade Revival.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Chicago manufacturers, bankers, and business men in general are raising protests that industrial recovery will be delayed if congress defers for a year the tax revision relief, especially the repeal of the excess profits tax.

Uncertainty, they say, is now one of the greatest barriers to resumption of business, work, and employment, much like it used to be in the days when the question of tariff making and tinkering brought about a quadrennial slump about election time.

The general situation, they urge, has reached a neatly balanced position where industry is all set to strike a good pace once the machine is cranked up, but at present it is stalled on uncertainty as a dead center.

Nobody can figure on his taxes; industry in general is unable to figure definitely on profits; large capitalists are putting their money into tax exempt securities instead of into productive enterprises, with the result that taxation is unfairly balanced, the smaller man getting the heavy end of it.

Business Men Wire President.

Yesterday the Association of Commerce sent a message to President Harding and to members of congress protesting against abandonment of the original tax relief program—the Republican house caucus a few days ago took the position that the change in the tax laws should become effective for 1922 instead of 1921, meaning a year's delay. Manufacturers Also Act.

The Illinois Manufacturers' association likewise sent to members of congress a telegram reading:

"We consider the decision to permit the existing tax bill to stand for 1921 as unfair and unjust in the highest degree and ask your support of the reductions proposed for 1921 by the ways and means committee."

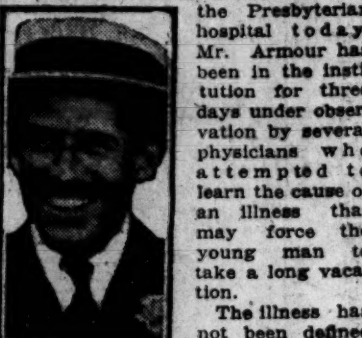

"The party in power pledged itself to a reduction in taxes and specifically to the prompt repeal of the excess profits tax. The manufacturers of the country have acted on the assumption that the present congress would carry out the party pledge and they have not shifted the burden of this tax. American business needs this relief."

The illness has not been defined by any of the physicians. It is an internal trouble that developed early in the week. "I will not be able to play polo for some time," Mr. Armour said last night. "I am sure that the illness is nothing serious. The doctors have not come to any decision as yet. I may be forced to take a long rest."

3 TAG DAYS EACH YEAR, LIMIT SET BY COMMITTEE

Plan to Systematize Giving Announced.

The tag day problem which for years has been a source of annoyance to members of the city council and the public generally may be regarded as settled "for good and all," Ald. A. O. Anderson, chairman of the special ad hoc subcommittee on tag days, announced yesterday.

Ald. Anderson, assisted by Maj. James Miles, head of the efficiency staff of the finance committee, has worked out a system which will reduce tag days to three a year—one in the spring for adults under the auspices of the Chicago Federation of Aged and Adult Charities; another, to be held on Sept. 13 for miscellaneous charities, twenty-two in number, which have formed an organization called the Association of Miscellaneous Charities, and a third, for children to be held on Oct. 17, and supervised by the Chicago Children's Benefit league.

125 Taggers to Each Society.

Organizations participating in the three tag days will be limited to 125 taggers each and no taggers under 17 years of age will be allowed to tag. Each of the miscellaneous charities to tag Sept. 12, will collect their own funds, turn the proceeds into their own bank and bank officials will be asked to report the amount to the association headquarters.

A locations committee, composed of Miss Ellen Babcock, chairman, Mrs. M. Tettelbaum, Mrs. F. Goldfine and Miss Helene L. Dickey, will assign the taggers to their stations. The taggers will be supervised by a committee composed of Mr. I. T. Kahn, chairman; George B. Sachs, August Beese and J. Forman.

Two to Head Committee.

Maj. Miles and Mrs. Charles Frankenthal, who was one of the leaders in working out the scheme to prevent organized begging becoming a nuisance, will head the publicity committee.

"At one time a certain organization set a permit and tagged for a solid week," said Maj. Miles in explaining the new tag day plan. "When left unsupervised tag days have occasionally averaged one a day over a two weeks' period."

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

One could talk for a column and a half on what happened at the White Sox park yesterday when Gleason's team, a scrappy team, downed the New York pennant chasing Yankees, 7 to 6, in a game that was about the most exciting since the war.

First of all, Red Faber won his twenty-third game of the season and Babe Ruth made his forty-fourth home run.

When the seventh came around the Sox had the count in their favor, 4 to 3. Mayes singled, Miller fanned, and Peckinpaugh singled, and then came Ruth. He hit a home run, a hit, once he had walked, and once he had struck out, and once he had forced a man at second. But he did this time with his hook curve, but after two strikes were on him Babe came back.

Ruth drove a long, high fly to left field. It passed the boundary of the playing field while still fair, for it went on the inside of the fence. But it went clear over the back wall and fell outside.

Ump Wilson was the man behind the plate to decide. While the ball was coming down Ray Schalk called his attention to its course, and when it passed out of sight Wilson waved his arm as if to declare it foul, but really called it fair.

Then trouble began. Schalk stormed. Gleason ran out from the bench. Eddie Mulligan dashed in from third. New York players came up carrying bats. Ump Wilson had a mob around him. Then Mulligan and Pipp were about to engage in a fight, which was stopped. Schalk finally was put out of the game and it went on with the Yankees two runs ahead.

Came the eighth inning. The Sox were sore. Strunk doubled. Falk walked. Shelly scratched a single on a bunt. Hooper forced Shelly and Strunk scored. One more was needed to tie. Hooper was sent up for Lee. He walked, filling the bases. Mr. Bratton went up for Faber and smashed one home inside first base that scored Falk and Hooper. That was enough to win. Who cares if Ruth's homer was fair or foul?

First German M. E. Church to Observe Its 75th Birthday

BY REV. G. A. MAC WHORTER.

THE seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the First German Methodist church in Chicago will be celebrated on Aug. 21 at that church, at Clybourn avenue and Division street. There will be a five day session of the Chicago German Methodist conference, which will also celebrate its golden jubilee.

Bishop Thomas Nicholson will preside and about 150 ministers and laymen are expected to attend the meetings. On the evening of the first day a reception to the visiting delegates will be given by the Rev. Henry C. Loeppert, pastor of the church.

The second day of the conference will be given over to a celebration of the Lord's Supper, and a memorial service for the ministers who have died during the last year. Charitable institutions will be discussed during the afternoon, and in the evening the Rev. Dr. J. A. Nulinger will conduct the services.

A general conference of the delegates will take up the third morning, and in the afternoon the women missionaries will speak. Saturday, the fourth day, will be given up to general conferences and in the evening there will be a banquet for the ministers and laymen at the Central Y. M. C. A. Visiting ministers will attend the First German Methodist Sunday school on Sunday morning when the Rev. Dr. S. W. Mueller of Cleveland will make an address. The evening service which will close the conference will be addressed on the subject of "The Romance of the German Methodist Church in America" by the Rev. J. A. Dikmann of Cincinnati.

NEW CLEWS GIVE MADELYNN HOPE OF QUICK RELEASE

Weakening by State Seen in Changed Tactics.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 18.—(Special.)—Indications grow that the state case of circumstantial evidence against Mrs. Madelynn Obenchain and Arthur C. Burch, charged with the murder of a fortnight ago of J. Belton Kennedy, might be overturned by the state of one and possible two men who desired the broker's death for reasons far removed from spurned love or broken hearts.

Ralph R. Obenchain, the young Chicago attorney who hurried here to aid the woman who divorced him because of love for Kennedy, is still confident that he will find the real slayer by Sunday morning. Secretary is the watchword of the investigations which he and his operatives are conducting, but he reiterated his confident prophecy of the day before.

"We are not trying so much to defend Madelynn just now as to learn who was the murderer and to build up a case that will convict him," declared Obenchain.

No Hope of Quashing Bills.

"At present we see no hope of having the indictments quashed. We know the prosecution is too dogmatic to do that, aside from the fact that it would make them look foolish. We do, however, hope to come into possession of evidence shortly which will absolutely clear both the prisoners and probably put the real perpetrators behind the bars."

Madelynn's champion seemed entirely undismayed by the heavy net of evidence that the state had placed about the persons of the former Northwestern university co-ed and the son of the Evanston pastor.

The fact that Burch had hurried to Los Angeles at the bidding of Madelynn and insisted upon a hotel room overlooking the offices of Kennedy; that he had watched those offices from a time and received calls from a young woman, disguised in a wig, who proved later to be Mrs. Obenchain; that on the night of the murder he had rushed out of the hotel bearing a package about the size of a shotgun; and that a feminine voice had talked to him over the telephone just preceding his last exit; that the marks of automobile tires impressed on a lonely road near the scene of the murder corresponded with those on the car which Burch that night drove off, are damning bits of evidence Obenchain regards with seeming perfect equanimity.

State Seems Weakening.

And today the state gave indications that it, too, might not be so certain of its case against Madelynn and Burch. Deputy Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz and William McFarlane, a private detective engaged by the district attorney to take charge of the investigation, have spent considerable time in Santa Monica questioning witnesses who are said to have seen two men abandon an automobile there shortly after the murder. Their description tallies, it is said, with that given by Madelynn of the pair who ran away after the double barreled shotgun had blazed and Kennedy had dropped at her feet to the porch.

Burch was taken immediately to stop the escape of a man who is thought to have boarded a fast Los Angeles-Lake train at 8 o'clock last night. Some one—the man who is thought to have been investigated by the Los Angeles police—had paid him a large sum of money and told him to make his getaway.

Trains Are Watched.

Today trains passing through Barstow, on the rim of the California desert, and the Nevada border, were watched for the mysterious suspect. Whether an arrest was made the prosecution did not disclose. Indeed, McFarlane and the district attorney's office covered up the new clues until today. They failed to explain, however, the sudden absence from the city of a large number of their investigators.

The case against Mrs. Obenchain and Burch is growing stronger every day, said Deputy District Attorney L. A. Keyes. "Evidence is coming through Mr. McFarlane that makes us more and more certain of conviction."

May Question Obenchain.

The attorney indicated that Obenchain might be called before the grand jury and questioned regarding his prophecy that the real slayer of Kennedy would be captured within five days. Mr. Keyes said it was Obenchain's duty to give such facts as he knew to the prosecutor's office. He added, however, that any theory of the case would have to make a place for the participation of both Madelynn and Burch.

Obenchain announced today that he had been advised by Madelynn of an attempt made by the state investigators to interview her and Burch in their cells. Twice she tried to see Mrs. Obenchain—once at midnight and again at 2 o'clock—but each time she refused. The reason for the visit was obscure.

That the two Chicagoans will be put on an early trial was promised by Judge N. Reeves.

After the two defendants enter the courtroom next Monday, I will announce that the court is ready to hear the case at once," he said. "Less important will be pushed aside to make place for the trial that all Los Angeles is waiting to see."

Anniversary of Big Fire

To promote civic observation of the fiftieth anniversary of the great Chicago fire were discussed at a luncheon yesterday at the Morrison hotel by members of the Chicago chapter of the National Fire Protection association. It is proposed to celebrate the anniversary by an address on the people's part in the fire.

TOLD WITH BILLS

SHIRLEY SHOLER.

Santa Claus continues to masquerade in the guise of a postman for Miss Shirley Sholer, 3343 West 19th street.

Every Tuesday for the last seven weeks has arrived a special delivery letter. Shirley tears 'em open, finds the ever present sheet of white scented paper with a corner off, a cryptic unsigned message, and a small envelope containing a crisp $50 bill.

When, or why, Shirley knows not. The adventure became too thrilling and she took her mystery to Attorney Philip R. Davis.

An example of the notes accompanying the bills:

"We have SPECIAL dates with you for July as follows: Each Tuesday. Watch for a. A pleasant Fourth. Your sister? Give her our kind regards. S. A. L."

"All my life I've wanted adventure," Shirley told Mr. Davis. "And now it's here I don't know what to do."

POOLE LAYS HIGH PRICE OF MILK TO DISTRIBUTORS

Cites Costs to Show Big Profits.

Russell J. Poole, city food price expert, added Chicago milk distributors to those he holds responsible for high milk prices yesterday in commenting on a tabulation of wholesale and retail milk prices in 110 cities, prepared by Frederick Rex, head of the municipal reference library.

"Milwaukee, where milk is selling for 9 cents a quart, draws its supply from towns in Wisconsin which also ship milk to Chicago, where it is sold by the Chicago distributors for 14 cents a quart," Mr. Poole said. "Retail milk prices could be reduced materially and leave the distributors a fair profit and I have figures to prove it."

Comparison of Prices.

City	Cost to Dealers per cwt.	Retail price 14 cents
Chicago	$2.30	14 cents
Des Moines, Ia.	2.45	12 cents
Omaha, Neb.	2.50	12 cents
Baltimore, Md.	3.00	12 cents
Colorado Springs, Col.	2.94	11 cents
Rockford, Ill.	2.05	10 cents
Bellevue, Wis.	2.25	10 cents
Wausau, Wis.	1.50	8 cents
New York	2.80	14 cents
Jacksonville, Fla.	4.44	20 cents
Tulsa, Okla.	5.03	18 cents

How Prices Vary.

Nine of the 110 cities tabulated are selling milk for 14 cents, fourteen for 13 cents, seventeen for 12 cents, and seven for 11 cents, according to the report.

MRS. JOHN KAY ASKS A DIVORCE; CRUELTY, CHARGE

"One constant quarrel" was the married life of John H. Kay, Chicago lawyer and tennis player, and his wife, Mrs. Delight Ida Kay, according to her bill for divorce filed yesterday in the Superior court charging cruelty.

Mrs. Kay stated in her bill that she left her husband last Sunday when he struck her and threw her against a chair.

The Kays were married Feb. 26, 1908. Their daughter, Phyllis Geraldine, 11, left the 1311 Fairview avenue residence with her mother to live in a loop hotel. Samuel Markman, Mrs. Kay's attorney, will make a motion for $500 a month temporary alimony before Judge Brentano Saturday.

Find Body of Evanston Woman in Drainage Canal

After twelve hours' searching by several hundred persons, the body of Mrs. Hilda Swanson, 50 years old, 2503 Ashland avenue, Evanston, who wandered from her home early yesterday morning clad only in a bath robe, was found in the drainage canal. Mrs. Swanson had been ill for several months.

MAYOR DENIES OFFICIALS GOT PAGEANT PROFIT

Tells in Court of Pier Show Finances.

Mayor William Hale Thompson, testifying before Judge John A. Swanson in the Circuit court yesterday, said not one dollar of the proceeds of the Pageant of Progress went into the pockets of any of the officials. He insisted the city of Chicago should consider itself lucky in getting $50,000 for the rent of the pier, after it had stood idle for practically five years.

Mayor Thompson was called as a witness in the suit instituted on behalf of Samuel Grossman, a taxpayer, to have all the books and records of the pageant impounded and a receiver appointed with authority to determine the profits and turn them into the treasury of the city.

The mayor testified that the venture was not a municipal one and that even if the city should have undertaken to run it, it could not have made a success of it because of politics. Despite his assertion that the city was not interested, Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson was present and aided Special Corporation Counsel Chester E. Cleveland, the city's $150 a day lawyer, in the handling of the case for the pageant organizers.

Crowe's Assistant Watches Suit.

First Assistant State's Attorney Edward S. Day, who is in charge of the prosecutor's office during the absence of State's Attorney Crowe, was in court during the entire hearing. It was rumored that the state's attorney may take action against Samuel Grossman, and his brother, Attorney Max Grossman, who is representing him, if any pretext is found.

Following the usual formalities and the questioning of Mr. Grossman, who admitted he understood and appreciated the seriousness of the charges he had made in his suit, D. F. Kelly, head of Mandel Brothers and treasurer of the Pageant of Progress, was called as a witness.

Mayor Thompson was made president of the Pageant of Progress, and against his wishes and at the earnest solicitation of every one interested, Mr. Kelly testified. "Every person in Chicago should be glad that we have a mayor who is so public spirited enough to make a success of an undertaking of this kind. Absolutely none of the officials of the pageant got a single dollar of the profits, which will amount to around $55,000, and I have pledged myself to see that every dollar is spent honestly for the benefit of the people of the city. It was a case of let George do it and the mayor did all the work."

Mayor Tells of Funds.

The mayor, on the stand, explained that $100,000 had been set aside for an international pageant next year, while the remainder was to be divided between the Boosters' club and the health and sanitation department of the municipal school.

"Couldn't the city have operated this exposition and received the profits, Mr. Mayor," asked Attorney Max Grossman.

"No, sir; not a dollar," Mr. Thompson replied. "He donated all his time for nothing, just like I did. He didn't have any better sense than I had. He was just like Kelly and Bartlett and Wilson. It couldn't. There would have been a cry of politics. You couldn't have kept it out. Why, if that money [the $355,000] had been turned into the city treasury it would have killed the pageant for next year and you would have aided in killing it. The big business men who gave their time and money to make the pageant a success wouldn't have come in if it were municipally operated. Kelly and Bartlett [Frederick Bartlett] and Wilson [Thomas E. Wilson] wouldn't have had anything to do with it."

"Kramer Donated Services."

"How about Henry J. Kramer, the business manager. Did he get any salary the mayor was asked. "No, sir; not a dollar," Mr. Thompson replied. "He donated all his time for nothing, just like I did. He didn't have any better sense than I had. He was just like Kelly and Bartlett and Wilson. It couldn't. There would have been a cry of politics. You couldn't have kept it out. Why, if that money [the $355,000] had been turned into the city treasury it would have killed the pageant for next year and you would have aided in killing it. The big business men who gave their time and money to make the pageant a success wouldn't have come in if it were municipally operated. Kelly and Bartlett [Frederick Bartlett] and Wilson [Thomas E. Wilson] wouldn't have had anything to do with it."

"Now about the profits again. The city got only $50,000 for the rent of the pier, but the pageant made $355,000 in two weeks. Do you think that was good business for the city?"

The city should be glad that it got the $50,000, and the city council showed good judgment in grabbing it. For five years it has been vacant and it is bringing the city a return with $50,000. Why shouldn't they grab it. They should be happy that they got the $50,000, and that their customer didn't go broke."

The hearing will be resumed tomorrow.

MISSING MAN LOCATED.

Henry Sanda, 50 years old, who disappeared from the Kankakee state hospital, Aug. 9, returned to the institution yesterday, relatives in this city were notified.

WONDER WHAT A TELEPHONE BOOTH THINKS ABOUT

MEN ARE LIKE THAT

BY CLARA E. LAUGHLIN

INTERFERENCE.

Like all young married couples, Sallie and Jim would have made their necessary adjustments much more easily if they could have been left to do it quite by themselves. It isn't only the outspoken suggestions of relatives and friends that complicate matters; it is as likely to be their conscientiously repressed criticisms that make themselves most uncomfortably felt.

Sallie was as keenly aware of what people like Mrs. Fairweather and the Coiffages, Corydon and Ryker thought of her living arrangements—their inadequacy and inconvenience—as of what Millie, and Linda, and Jay thought and unsparringly said of them.

To those who voiced their dissatisfaction she could reply: Those who said nothing left her doubly uncomfortable because she could not explain to them why she deferred making a change. She didn't mind how much they blamed her for being unwise about herself; but she hated most terribly that any one should think Jim was taking insufficient care of her.

Millie stormed about the slums, as she was pleased to call Stuyvesant Square, and about the wretched, huddled-up conditions. And Linda, busy with plans for at least two splendid establishments, was bitter against Sallie's arrangements, not only because she felt that Sallie was demeaned and endangered by them, but because she felt that they reflected discreditably upon Jay Sudduth. She kept Jay stirred up to more or less continual protest against them.

Jim was under no pressure from his friends, or relatives, or employers; but he was painfully aware of the challenges being hurled at him from the camp of Sallie's sponsors. What they thought of him as an individual, mattered little to him; but he wanted them to think well of him as Sallie's husband, because he knew how much that opinion would have to do with Sallie's peace of mind and, so, with his own, and with their happiness together.

It was a malicious fairy's doing, Sallie was sure, that on the morning when Mrs. Brady feared she was coming down with the flu and stayed home to await developments, Linda and her mother should come to Stuyvesant Square in Jay's town car, and that Sallie, who was much taken with her in the show. But they could have phoned her to make the arrangements. What they really wanted was to sniff around.

Linda had fallen easily and delightedly into the role that Sallie wickedly characterized to Jim as Jay Sudduth's swell second pick. What Sallie meant was that Linda was expected to advertise by her appearance on all occasions the taste of Jay in choosing her and his success in winning her. The principal thing required of her was to dress the part and to look as pretty, as painstakingly groomed, and as expensive, as she could. Linda loved her job, and was an unqualified success at it.

She was the quintessence of a pretty lady this noon, as she stopped from the dark, rather smelly hallway—smelling, that is, of coffee and even of farm sausages—into Sallie's living room, where Sallie was tidying up.

"Mercy!" she said, as she stepped in. "Don't they ever air these halls!"

"I suppose they try to," Sallie answered, "but cooking odors stick. I dressey that's my breakfast you smell."

"This place reeks of sausages," Linda went on. "I cooked some for my breakfast," Sallie replied. "You cooked some?" Millie echoed.

"Yes, Mrs. Brady couldn't come this morning. She's sick."

"When she's sick, why doesn't she send Bessie?" Millie demanded.

"Bessie goes to kindergarten college. I suppose she doesn't like to miss a session," Sallie explained, defensively, both for the Bradys and for herself.

Millie stepped to one of the windows overlooking the square, and flung it up as far as it would go. Her dark eyes were snapping angrily and her nose was puckered in disgust.

"All you need," she said tartly, "to complete the picture, is a line full of wash strung across the room, and a man sitting under it smoking a clay pipe."

Sallie was hurt and angry, but she tried to keep her self in hand.

"The wash is in the bathroom," she said, as if she thought it a good joke. "And my man is at the factory; but his pipe's home."

Millie's reply was inarticulate, but it expressed all of the contempt and condemnation conceivable.

Linda stood by the open window, staring out into the square.

"Sit down, Linda, won't you? And mother?" Sallie urged.

Millie plumped herself down in a chair by the fireplace; but Linda continued to stand and stare, as if she had not heard.

Jim's sofa bed was as he had crept out of it. Sallie's breakfast dishes were still on the little gategated table they dragged forth for meals. Jim's pajamas and dressing gown were not hung up, because the closet where they were kept when not in use was in Sallie's sleeping room. The shirt and collar he had worn yesterday were in evidence—Sallie had not yet put them in the laundry bag, which hung inside her closet door.

Sallie had had her bath when she got up, and had gone leisurely about the simple business of getting her breakfast. She was lingering at the table, with the morning paper and her mail, when her mother and Linda took her unawares.

She had been enjoying herself, quietly, restfully, feeling how nice it was not to have Mrs. Brady—kind soul though she was, and competent—permeating the wee place.

"Jay wants you to lunch with us, if you can," Millie said, stiltily, "and meet some friend of his who's keen about the show."

Sallie was not fond of that sort of thing—being paraded out so that people probably most uninteresting person to whom Jay was indebted, or might want to be indebted, should tell his friends about lunching with Sallie Baird; but she accepted it with what grace she could, as part of her obligation to Jay.

"Why, yes, I can, today," she said, cheerfully, trying to forget about all the things she would rather do. "But I wish you had phoned me. I wouldn't have dawdled then I late to go away and leave things like this. If Mrs. Brady's really sick, I suppose Bessie won't come, either. And I wouldn't have Jim come home and find the place this way for anything."

"Why not?" Millie demanded. "Is it any worse for him to come home from his job and clean up the house, than for you to tire yourself out cleaning it and then have to go off to yours? He's stronger than you are; he doesn't work any harder, he has nothing to do all evening but tidy up the place. I should think he'd be glad to do it! That he'd be ashamed to have you do it!"

The anger flush in Sallie's cheeks was almost like fever, but she was able to keep her voice cool and steady.

"He would be glad to do it," she replied. "But that doesn't make me glad to leave it for him to do."

"Don't be absurd!" her mother charged. "The more you make them do for you, the better they like you. The biggest mistake women ever make with men is to let them off too easy—let them ease down and take things for granted."

Linda turned sharply away from the window, with a quick movement, as if she were bursting with impatience.

"The whole situation is simply indecent!" she cried.

Sallie shut her eyes, but not in time to keep back the tears. She tried hard to think what she should do. Her impulse was to tell Linda what she thought of her and of her strictures and of her preferences. But bitter words, a quarrel, would do no good and lead to no end of trouble. Jim would not feel that she ought to say them in his defense.

So Sallie said nothing at all.

44 INDICTED FOR SABOTAGE PLOT IN BAKERS' STRIKE

4 Officials of Union Hit by Grand Jury Bills.

Confessions read before the Cook county grand jury yesterday resulted in the indictment of forty-four officials, alleged professional sluggers and members of the Bakers and Confectioners' union on charges of conspiracy to destroy property and to boycott and injure business during the bakers' strike.

Among those indicted were four officials, twenty-five members of the strike committee, which is charged with the duty of instituting a reign of terror, members of the executive committee and several alleged professional sluggers. At midnight twenty-one of the men had been arrested. A confession signed by James Roth, former business agent and corresponding secretary of the union, in which he admitted that the union leaders had conspired to counteract the use of any force necessary to win the strike was the strongest evidence presented by Assistant State's Attorney James E. McShane and Ben Newmark, chief investigator for the State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe.

Confessions Tell of Terror Reign.

Statements were also obtained from George Kan, financial secretary and confessed odor bomb thrower, scores of which had been hurled into batches of bread with disastrous effect. Martin Kett, a slugger, and Elias Szewarek. Their stories bristled with sluggings, shootings, threats, broken windows, property destroyed and odor bombs thrown. In all thirty cases of men being slugged and 150 windows broken. At least fifty batches of bread either in ovens or in delivery wagons were destroyed.

Partial List of Outrages.

Some of the outrages mentioned in the confessions follow:

On July 12, John Nagle, a driver for the Grant Baking company, reported his load of bread had been ruined by an odor bomb.

Of automatic sluggings and bombers "bombed" the Burney Brothers' bakery at 215 South Lincoln street on July 19.

Odor bombs were tossed into the ovens of the Heister & Junge company plant at 301 Wisconsin street on June 14. Sluggers in a machine tossed the bombs composed of ammonia and alcohol.

The plant of H. Piper & Co. at 1610 North Wells street was bombed on Aug. 15. On the same date a horse attached to a bakery wagon was shot.

Edward Sody, a baker employed by the Ward Baking company, was slugged on June 15, and taken to a hospital.

John Hartman, formerly a leader in the union, made a confession and then repudiated it. He was immediately placed in a cell.

List of Those Indicted.

Those indicted are: Joseph Meyers, present business agent of the union; George Kohlmaier, treasurer; Joe Lind, secretary of the strike committee; John Door, George Bauer, John Kettel, Otto Keel, Joe Neil, V. Longwinski, Fred Krumer, Albert Schalk, P. Kasanda, Matt Kibinski, Steve Sedler, Joe Wetzel, Carl Helfrich, Otto Ludwig, H. Bernstein, Joe Shanen, Adolph Hamm, Stephen Filipowicz, Herman Bieker, Gustave Bader, Joseph Stadler, Rudolf Kriger, Rudolf Albrecht, Christ Galoz, Leo Hofner, Antone Dornier, Joe Hirsch, George Grundwald, Anton Artchoch, John Borax, Simon Brody, Herman Raper, Frank Seur, Joe Hoyer, Fritz Schlein, Alex Lifkoff and Martin Kett.

Woman Asphyxiated in Apartment Kitchenette

Mrs. Lillian Everett was found in a dying condition yesterday in her apartment at 4161 Drexel boulevard by Frederick Bailey, manager of the apartment house. He notified the Hyde Park police, whose efforts with a pulmotor failed. Mrs. Everett lay before her kitchen range, her head against a low, with five gas jets turned fully on.

FARM AND GARDEN

HARVESTING, CURING, AND STORING GARDEN SEED.

The keeping of garden vegetable seeds that are saved from the home garden depends largely upon the method of cleansing and curing them at the time they are harvested. Seed should never be gathered when they are thoroughly ripe, for seed picked while green is often of low vitality and fails to germinate.

Gardeners are frequently able to save enough seed in a single year from good healthy plants to last them for several years. Most seed will keep two or three seasons. However, there are some that will not keep more than one season. They may germinate and even produce seedlings but the plants are usually so weak that they are worthless.

In general, the seeds of onions, parsnips, sweet corn, beans, carrots, leek and rhubarb lose their vitality at the end of the second or third season. On the other hand, seeds of such crops as beets, cabbage, collards, cauliflower, lettuce, muskmelon, mustard, okra, pumpkin, pepper, radish, spinach, squash, turnip, tomato, and watermelon will keep from four to five years if properly cured and stored.

In any case, however, old seed should always be tested before planted. Cucumber and endive seed often keep for ten years.

As soon as the seeds are thrashed or washed they must be dried and put in cans and boxes or in sacks hung high where rats, mice, and weevil cannot reach them. Particular care must be taken in drying the seeds if they are to be stored in jars and boxes or other air-tight containers for if left moist mold will develop.

Because of the danger of mold developing in air-tight receptacles many use cloth sacks exclusively.
